ACCOUNTANCY CERTIFICATION ORGANIZATIONS GATHER TOGETHER WITH BOA

The representatives of the major certification organizations for accountancy met with BoA Chairman Joel Tan-Torres on May 27, 2015 to discuss various areas of concern and directions of the accountancy profession. The key officers of Institute of Internal Auditors of the Philippines, Association of Certified Fraud Examiners, Information Systems Audit and Control Association, and Association of Chartered Certified Accountants attended the meeting. The Institute of Certified Management Accountant and the National Institute of Accounting Technicians were invited but their representative were unable to attend.

BoA Chairman Tan-Torres said, "This meeting with the largest certification organizations for accountancy is a major step in our profession. We were able to dialogue with these organizations which play an important role in the development of our accountants. We all agreed on how to move forward to come up with win-win solutions."

It was agreed that the certification organizations will consult their respective boards and membership on the initiatives discussed, including supporting the revision of the accountancy curriculum and program, instituting awareness campaigns on the what they are doing, providing knowledge or training support to accounting schools, and enhancing the value of the certifications.

The certification organizations will again meet the Board of Accountancy to discuss the progress of the agreements.
